Household Finance Working Group

This fake manuscript tests title-page metadata, body typography, citations, headings, mathematical notation, tables, figures, and code formatting across the available HFWG template fontsets.

Introduction

This paragraph exercises ordinary prose, emphasis, strong emphasis, inline code such as `median_income`, and citations (Burnham and Anderson 2002; Warren 2015). The metadata citation should also resolve cleanly (Household Finance Working Group 2026).

Mathematical Notation

Inline math should sit comfortably in text, as in $y_i = \alpha + \beta x_i + \epsilon_i$.

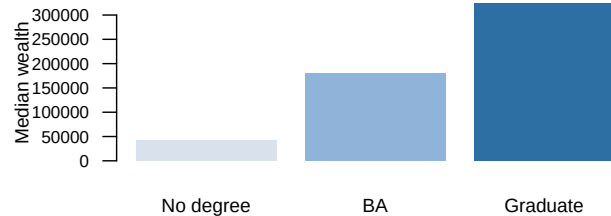

$$\bar{x} = \frac{1}{n} \sum_{i=1}^n x_i$$

Table and Code

summary_table <- data.frame(
  group = c("No degree", "BA", "Graduate"),
  median_wealth = c(42000, 180000, 325000),
  share = c(0.52, 0.31, 0.17)
)
knitr::kable(summary_table, caption = "Synthetic household finance working group")
```

Figure

```
barplot(
  summary_table$median_wealth,
  names.arg = summary_table$group,
  col = c("#D9E2EC", "#8FB3D9", "#2E6FA3"),
  border = NA,
  ylab = "Median wealth",
  las = 1,
  cex.axis = 0.75,
  cex.lab = 0.85,
  cex.names = 0.8
)
```

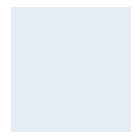

Conclusion

The final section gives section headings, spacing, references, and running headers a little more room to show themselves.
